Hunters Start Fall Season in Lakes Region

Season for Rice Hens, Doves and Squirrels Opens; Good Bags Reported

Sportsmen who availed themselves of the first day of the hunting season for rice hens, mourning doves and squirrels in the lakes region Wednesday reported good bags of game.

There are also unmistakable signs, here and there around the lakes, that hunters and resort owners are preparing for the opening of the duck hunting season.

Autumn, the most beautiful of all seasons in the lakes area, each year finds more and more summer residents lingering on at their cottages until well into September, October and November. In many cases, families with children in school move to town for the week, but continue to come out to Antioch week-ends.

Each year, too, sees more homes remodeled for year-around occupancy. Because of crowded conditions in industrial centers, many persons who are able to do so are renting their city homes this year and making arrangements to stay in their lake region cottages.

Since many hunters and fishing enthusiasts who for years have made it a custom to come to Antioch in the fall are now engaged in essential industries, some have foregone their summer vacations this year in order to be able to plan on taking a few days out for hunting during the autumn season.

Government regulation of the sale of shells is expected to have a salutary effect in reducing the possibility of hunting accidents this year, since it is believed that there will be less tendency to waste ammunition in careless shooting.

Because of gasoline rationing, many resorts are arranging to accommodate increased numbers of overnight guests during the hunting season, since some hunters who in former times drove out to the lakes-area each day will probably arrange to stay at the lakes instead.

A hunters' and fishermen's directory service for the lakes area is maintained by Louis Nielsen of Nielsen's Corners, Highway 59 and Grass Lake road.

Red Cross Unit Has Record Week

The Antioch Red Cross surgical dressing unit made more than 2,000 dressings last week, it was revealed this morning. This was its record week.

In addition to individuals who have been contributing from one to several hours of work on Tuesdays or Thursdays, several organizations have given evidence of interest. Among these are the Rainbow Girls, who have been taking part in the work of the unit as an organization.

The Red Cross unit has been meeting in the Antioch Grade school during the summer months, but has returned now to its former quarters in the Itasca squad rooms over the Antioch Five and Ten Cent store.

Hours are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Volunteer workers may come in at any time.

Copies of News May Be Secured at B. J. Hooper's Pharmacy in Lake Villa

The Antioch News is now available each week in Lake Villa, at the B. J. Hooper pharmacy on Cedar avenue, which is acting as agent for newsstand sales there.

Lake Villa residents who are not regular subscribers and wish to secure copies of the News, or desire additional copies of certain issues will no doubt find the new agency a great convenience for this purpose.

Antioch agencies for the paper, in addition to the News office, are Ted's Sweet shop, Lake street, and the Reeves Walgreen agency and King's drug store, both on Main street.

Children Must Be Six by Dec. 1 to Enter School Now

A change in the school laws with regard to the age when children may enter the first grade is being called to the attention of parents by Richard Whitacre, principal of Antioch Grade school.

The new ruling, recently enacted by the Illinois Legislature, changes the law to read that children who will reach the age of 6 by Dec. 1 may enter the first grade. Under the previous ruling, they could enter if they would be six by the ensuing February.

Children who will be five years of age by Dec. 1 may enter kindergarten, Whitacre states.

Mrs. Norma Benson Knapp of Delavan, Wis., who received her training at the State Teachers' college at Whitewater, Wis., will teach third grade at the school this year.

A meeting of a transportation committee appointed by the school board will be held Friday morning to discuss the appointment of a successor to the Rothenbach bus service. The Rothenbach company, which has transported children living beyond 1 1/2 miles from the school, will be unable to continue with this work this year.

It is believed that satisfactory arrangements can be completed, as several possible alternatives are being considered. In the event that arrangements cannot be made in time for the start of school, parents will be notified, Whitacre states.

Both Antioch Grade school and Antioch Township High school will open their year on Wednesday, Sept. 8.

This is the same date on which rural schools in Lake county in this area will open.

Kenosha county schools will open Sept. 7.

Holstein Breeders Will Hold Field Day Sept 2

Of interest to many in the Antioch region is the news that the Illinois Holstein Breeders association will hold a Field Day and Type Classification Sunday, Sept. 12, at Curtis Candy company's farm near Arlington Heights, Ill., according to an announcement by Otto Schnerling, president of the company.

Holstein breeders attending will have an opportunity to inspect the company's Holstein herd, and speakers scheduled to appear on the day's program will include Glen M. Householder, extension field man of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Brattleboro, Vt.; A. J. Lauterbach, manager of the Pure Milk association, Chicago; J. B. Fitch, head of the dairy department, University of Minnesota College of Agriculture, Minneapolis; F. W. Atkinson, head of the dairy department, Kansas State College, Manhattan; and Otto Schnerling, president of the Curtis company.

The day's activities will begin at 10:00 a. m., and at noon Mr. and Mrs. Schnerling will be hosts at a luncheon for all those attending.

The Arlington Heights farm is located at the corner of Buffalo Grove and Hintz road, near Arlington Heights.

Dr Tague Purchases Wisconsin State Fair Champion Shorthorn

The Junior Yearling winner bull of the milking Shorthorn strain exhibited at the Wisconsin State fair in Milwaukee last week, "Roan King," 14 months old, has been purchased by Dr. W. P. Tague of Antioch from M. B. Weidner of Dalton City, Ill.

Dr. Tague has for some time specialized in raising fine Shorthorn cattle at his farm on Highway 173, just east of Antioch.

He considers "Roan King" a valuable addition to his herd.

Highway crews are working on the Wilmet road in the vicinity of Liberty corners this week.

Navy Salvages Glenview Plane From Fox Lake

Pregener Helps Raise Sea- plane and Tow It Ashore

The twin-motored seaplane from Glenview which sank in shallow water in Fox Lake last week when it overturned while the crew was practicing landings, was salvaged Friday.

Louis Pregener of Grass Lake assisted the navy crew in salvage operations, raising the plane from the bottom with dredging equipment, and towing it to shore with the Pregener sea-going launch, "O'My VI." The "O'My" is the same craft that figured in the spectacular rescue of duck hunters marooned in blinds during a storm in the fall of 1940, and has been called into use in connection with a number of other unusual happenings around the lakes during the past few years.

Several residents along the shore of Fox lake in the vicinity where the plane sank joined in serving coffee and sandwiches to the salvage crew.

The motors were taken out of the plane, and the plane itself was dismantled and taken apart for removal to Glenview.

The four men who were occupants of the plane when it hit the water and nosed over sustained only slight injuries and were able to crawl out on the wings of the overturned craft, from which they were removed to safety by spectators who came to their rescue with speed boats and cruisers. The crew members were also successful in salvaging some of the equipment before the plane sank too low in the water.

The spot where the plane went down is about midway between Indian Point and Lehmann's Willow Point, and the water there is comparatively shallow.

Final Services Held For Mrs. M. Keeling

Lake Marie Resident Dies After Three Months' Illness

Mrs. Mary Keeling, who passed away late Sunday night after an illness of three months, was laid to rest in Mt. Carmel cemetery following services Wednesday morning in St. Peter's church.

Mrs. Keeling, who would have been 65 October 22, was a resident of Chicago and of Lake Marie, where she made her home with a niece, Mrs. Joseph Hubert.

She is survived by a son, Basil, of Chicago; another son, George, Great Lakes; a daughter, Mrs. Clara Reilly, Chicago; by Mrs. (Etta) Hubert, and by two nephews, Warrant Officer (Sr. Grade) Thomas Enright, who was called here from Camp Rucker, Ala., and Morris Enright of Lake Marie.

Mrs. Keeling had been ill with pneumonia, and appeared to be unable to rally. The immediate cause of her death, however, was believed to be heart trouble.

An overheated gas stove at the "old Labdon house" on Lake street, now the residence of "Lottie" Craft, was responsible for a call to the Antioch fire department Tuesday afternoon at 3:55 o'clock. There was no damage.

Cattle from the R. J. Rustman farms at Twin Lakes, Wis., were shown by Roy Seitz of Antioch at the Wisconsin state fair in Milwaukee last week.

The Observer

We sometimes wish that a few of us adults could have a little more of the same spirit that was stirring a couple of kind young gentlemen—Leslie Ryan of Harvey, Ill., and Fred Stahmer, Jr., who dropped in at the Antioch News office Monday afternoon and announced that they were looking for work. Leslie had one wrist in splints, and both, if we are not mistaken in our recollections, had a fair amount of freckles. We forget what they told us their ages were, but we would say, at an offhand guess, that they weren't over 10. Anyway, they (continued on page 5)

Chicago Boy, 4, Fatally Injured by Truck at Salem

Victim, William Olsen, Jr., Had Been Visiting Grand- parents at Salem

William L. Olsen, Jr., 4, of Chicago, who was fatally injured when struck by a milk truck on Highway 83 Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, succumbed to his injuries late that evening in St. Catherine's hospital, Kenosha. The child was visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nickel, at their home in Salem township, about one-half mile south of Highway 50. He had been playing in the yard, and ran out into the roadway just as the truck came along.

Vincent T. Polarek, Chicago, driver of the truck, applied the brakes and swerved to his vehicle, but the fender struck the child and flung him to the pavement.

Dr. Chester De Witte of Silver Lake was called, and the Kenosha county sheriff's department was summoned to remove the little boy to the hospital in its ambulance.

He had suffered a skull fracture and cuts and bruises, the physician's examination revealed.

A 18-year-old Loon Lake youth has been charged with removing a valuable mare from the farm operated by Jack Connelly on Wadsworth road a mile east of Millburn, and taking it to his own home recently. Compulsory War Bonds for Farmers?

Although the nation's farmers purchased 875 million dollars in War Bonds in 1941, and are buying even more in 1943, the War Bond investment per farm family is much less than town family investment, according to the September "Farmer Speaks" poll, conducted by a national research organization for Successful Farming magazine.

Forced higher farm wages may be the story behind the low Bond figure as farmers attempt to meet industrial wages. Increased farm savings and repayment of farm mortgages may be two other placer movements encircling the farmer's bulging purse. Surveys of Successful Farming's editors have shown that mortgage indebtedness, however, is being reduced at an unprecedented pace—which is just what Uncle Sam recommends.

According to the poll, an average of 63 percent of the nation's farmers oppose requiring every family to put 15 percent of its income into War Bonds. Thirty-two percent favor the idea and six percent express no opinion.

Surveys conducted a year ago showed that farmers would not object to a graduated increase in income taxes if Government expenditures required it, but compulsion was frowned upon.

An Iowa's opinion is that "It's a way of curbing useless spending and of helping win the war." A California woman replies, "Most people are putting in now as much as they are able." Many stated "It should be voluntary—that's the democratic way to do it."

Yours for Better Budgets and Audits

Looking over the July-August issue of The Illinois Taxpayer, our attention was caught by an article which impressed us as embodying a veritable nugget of sound business sense.

We pass it on:

"Bills to bring better business practices to Illinois local government by better budgetary control (House Bills 710 to 712, inclusive) failed to receive sufficient support in the closing days of the legislative session for passage. That legislation of this type is as badly needed as any in the field of local taxes has been emphasized again and again by the Federation and other civic organizations. Until the misunderstanding that such laws tend to be costly in administration and lead only to further technical objections to tax levies has been erased, little progress can be expected. Such legislation produces exactly the contrary result. Adequate budgetary control, by forcing taxing units to keep within their appropriations, invariably leads to lower expenditures and tax savings. Objections to tax levies should become fewer and not increased.

"Bills to require local governments to make regular audits of their books—as do all efficiently-operated businesses—met with even less success at the last General Assembly. House Bills 725 and 726 were dropped by their sponsor at the committee hearing when the office of the State Auditor of Public Accounts sought to have the bills amended to place the matter of making these audits in this office. The bills as drafted authorized local officials to employ accountants of their own choice.

"If Illinois taxpayers wish to remain in the ranks of those few states who do not have adequate local budgetary control and proper audits they need only continue their lack of interest in supporting this type of legislation. It is to be hoped that the tax consciousness which is bound to be aroused in the next few years will bring about a clamor at the next session of the Assembly sufficient to bring Illinois out of the dark ages in this respect."

Sweet Corn On Your Wartime Menu

SOME THINGS we can't get, and some are hard to get, when we go to market these days—but let's not overlook good things that are on hand for our wartime tables and in plentiful supply.

Sweet corn, for instance—a highly recommended "protective" vegetable, rich in iron and copper, and which supplies the body with the important vitamins A and B.

However, a steaming, heaped platter of golden yellow ears hardly requires a nutritionist's endorsement or a housewife's urging to have the family pitch into their favorite late summer treat.

Sweet corn should be eaten soon after picking. If it must be kept for a while before being cooked, the heavy outer husks should be removed, leaving the thin inner layers. The ears should be wrapped in a damp cloth and stored in the refrigerator only as long as absolutely necessary.

Corn on the cob is so popular that other methods of serving sweet corn may be somewhat neglected. But there's a plentiful supply, which means we should make the most of this abundant wartime crop by utilizing it in as many ways as possible—several

Scalloped Corn Casserole

1 slice bacon 1 cup milk
1-4 cup chopped 1 teaspoon salt
green pepper 1-4 teaspoon
1 teaspoon mince pepper
ed onion 2 cups cooked
1 tablespoon corn, cut from cobs
1 tablespoon butter
1-4 cup bread
craunch

Fry bacon until crisp; remove from skillet. Cook green pepper and onion in bacon fat for 5 minutes over moderate heat. Blend in flour and seasonings; add milk gradually, cook stirring constantly until thickened. Crumble bacon; add with corn to sauce. Pour mixture into well-greased casserole. Top with bread crumbs. Bake in moderate oven 325 Deg. F. for 30 minutes. 4 servings.

of them indicated in the above sketch.

Southern Corn Pudding is a satisfying and tasty dish, and isn't hard to prepare. The ingredients are 2 cups of corn grated from the cob (or chopped canned corn may be used when fresh corn is no longer to be had), 2 eggs slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 tablespoons melted butter, 2 cups scalded milk, and 1 teaspoon salt. Combine these and bake in a buttered baking dish in a slow oven. A variation of this recipe, giving a still more filling pudding, is to use 3 tablespoons of cornmeal stirred into a little hot milk, instead of one of the eggs.

And for a delicious dish which will pinch-hit for the meat course in a wartime luncheon or dinner menu, follow the directions for making Scalloped Corn en Casserole, a tested and recommended recipe from the A & P Kitchen, printed in the next column.

Saving American Lives

On American warships, in field hospitals and in military hospitals here at home, X-ray and Fluoroscopic units are helping to save the lives of our sick and wounded servicemen. And to meet the ever increasing need of this scientific equipment for new ships and new field hospitals, Electric Power is on the job day and night.

Electric Power enables women war workers to do the cutting, the welding and the fitting of vital X-ray units—because Electric Power does the heavy work. It drives the lathes and drills... runs the welding and stamping machines... propels the huge conveyors and assembly lines.

Supplying Electric Power for war production in Northern Illinois is our assignment from Uncle Sam. And to this assignment we are devoting the skill and efficiency attained through years of experience.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 19
Save This Date!

It is the day the Methodist Church of Antioch is inviting all the community to join in a "Harvest-Thanksgiving" service. God has been exceedingly good to us in filling our barns and storehouses, and fruit and vegetable cellars to overflowing. Employment was never more plentiful or wages better. In the armed forces of the nation God has graciously spared the lives of our men and women. Let us set aside this day to give thanks to our Heavenly Father for His wonderful goodness to the children of men.

As a visible expression of thanks we are asking you to bring an appropriate offering of the fruit of your farm, your garden, your orchard, your vineyard, or your flock to be presented as a thank offering to Lake Bluff orphanage. The Word says, "Cast thy bread upon the water, and it shall return to you after many days."

Warren C. Henslee, Minister.

Plan for Storage

Army Aviation Cadet Reserves Given Insignia

Seventeen year olds who qualify for Army Aviation Cadet training will be enlisted in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve and awarded the new official Air Corps Aviation Cadet Wings to be worn with civilian dress while on inactive status, announced Captain F. A. Wilgus, Air Corps, president of Chicago Aviation Cadet Examining board, 166 W. Van Buren St.

The new lapel button, which will identify its wearer as a qualified volunteer member of the United States Army Air Forces, is similar to the wings and propeller insignia of the Air Corps, but is silver finished with letters "AC" in silver on a blue enamel center.

Aviation Cadet Wings will be worn until after the 18th birthday when the young Air Corps Reservists will be eligible for active service and pre-flight training. Army aviation Cadet candidates have option of designating time of call to training within six months after reaching 18 years.

Young men of 17 who wear the blue and silver wings of the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve receive one of the finest college training courses ever offered as part of training, according to Captain Wilgus.

They are enrolled in a five-month pre-flight course in one of the excellent colleges or universities selected by the Army Air Forces. Their studies, chiefly academic, comprise such subjects as English, geography, modern history, physics, and civil air regulations. They also receive basic military training.

"Under the College Preparatory Pre-Flight program of the Army Air Forces," declared Captain Wilgus, "our young men receive college training that is second to none in equipping them for the demanding career of a fighting flier. The course is but part of a well-rounded and complete training that makes them the finest fliers in the world."

"Youthful, capable man power is needed to man the bomber and fighter craft that is roaring off our assembly lines. But that man-power must be trained to meet a cunning and ruthless enemy, . . . and that's the training they get."

"The Aviation Cadet training program of the Army Air Forces looks beyond victory, however," added Capt. Wilgus. "The young men who are fighting for our freedom of the skies today, must cover them tomorrow commercially."

Matheny had been spending a two weeks' furlough at Merrywood Grove, Lake Marie, with Mrs. Matheny and their son and daughter, and Mrs. Matheny's mother, Mrs. D. H. Harnly of Chicago.

The Mathenys purchased their Lake Marie home about a year and a half ago.

An older son, Cadet James H. Matheny, who was employed during the summer of 1942 in the R. & J. Chevrolet garage, and afterward entered the U. S. Army coast artillery (anti-aircraft division), is at present attached to the ASTU at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., where he is taking an engineering course. His previous stations included San Diego, Calif., and Pasadena, where he took courses at Pasadena Junior college in conjunction with his army work.

Cpl. James ("Butts") Ferson, U. S. Army, who has been stationed in Tennessee, has been spending a day or two of his furlough visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Holmes, Sr., at their resort on Indian Point, where he was formerly employed.

Pvt. James H. Harvey, who was with the U. S. But we're willing to bet that if those two still keep their ambition, they ain't a gonna be turned down very often a few years from now when they go out looking for work. . . . They can say what they want to about the younger generation, but we still maintain that it's got some pretty good stuff in it.

Maybe you've heard someone remark before that "It's a small world," etc., but please consider that saying original with us when we attended Press and Radio Day at the Wisconsin State fair in Milwaukee last Friday. The first person we spoke to on the fair grounds was Ralph Anmon—who, it seems, went to school with W. C. Petty, now Lake County superintendent of schools.

The day's schedule for the press included the Youth program given in the afternoon, a press luncheon at 5 o'clock in the Modernistic ballroom, and attendance at the grandstand show in the evening. . . . all of which made for a very pleasant time, indeed.

The thing that impressed us most, though, was the array of products exhibited by young folks—livestock, vegetables, canned goods, baked goods, clothes. . . . well, this hardly gives you an idea of the scope of their exhibits, but it will have to serve. And every one of the articles shown, not to mention the livestock, would have done credit to an adult exhibitor. After walking down row after row of these displays, and listening to the Boy Scout drum and bugle corps contest, and otherwise noticing, in innumerable ways, what the young people are doing, we began to have a fairly rosy view of the future of the country. Looks as though it will be in pretty good hands.

From the Woodstock Daily Sentinel we learn that the war has dropped a little problem kerplunk into the laps of our McHenry county neighbors—

The garbage disposal problem, which this week threatened to become a serious one with the call of Glenn Russett into the U. S. army, has been eased somewhat, at least for sixty days, by the deferring of Russett by draft board No. 2. His deferment is still subject to approval by the state board.

Russett, who accommodates some 600 homes in Woodstock with his garbage pickup system, halted the business a week ago. The two other garbage collectors in town were unable to take on further business, thus presenting a serious situation, threatening the health of the city.

The city has on various dates advertised for bids on garbage collection but those received are believed to be too high and the proposition tabled. Alderman Leverett Lappin of the second ward, chairman of the health committee with his committee

From the American Merchant Marine News we learn that—

Even the flue dust from the boilers and fire boxes of American merchant vessels is being saved these days as part of the national salvage campaign, according to the American Merchant Marine Institute. The dust often contains considerable quantities of the rare and valuable vanadium used in hardening steel. The dust also provides lamp black needed in manufacture of paints, varnishes and printers ink.

By a quirk of nature, vanadium is found only in flue dust from oil-burning engines; never from coal burners. Furthermore, the dust is present in greater quantities if the vessel uses oil originating in California or Venezuela. Oil from the Eastern or Southern wells afford very little of the mineral in the flue dust.

When a vessel arrives from a foreign port, the boiler tubes are cleaned and the fire boxes are scraped. The dust is then packed in bags and offered to the highest bidder. All bidders are permitted to make a chemical analysis first to determine the percentage of vanadium likely to be recovered. The analysis ranges from practically zero in some cases to the percent needed to make the reduction profitable.

Studies of wear of tires in more than 2,000,000 miles of tire travel reveal that at least a year could be added to the average tire life if motorists observe the 35 mile an hour speed limit and observe the precautions necessary for tire conservation, according to survey statistics forwarded to the Chicago Motor club.

R. A. Moyer, research associate professor of highway engineering at Iowa State, reports that the investigation of tire wear on all major types of road surfaces in the Midwest shows

ANALYSIS

Work Only Deferment Basis; Fliers Pour More Block Busters Berlin and Italian Defense Targets; Naton Ponders Possible Labor Draft

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

When American troops captured Munda airfield on New Georgia Island in the central Solomons after a bitter struggle, they found these Japanese fighter and bomber planes wrecked by the Yanks' heavy aerial bombardment.

EUROPE:

'Scarred and Burned'

Prime Minister Churchill's view to "sear, scar and burn" Hitler's European fortress was drawn in sharp focus with the RAF's 700 plane raid on Berlin and the bombardment of Italian communication and industrial centers.

Poised at three different points, Allied armies awaited the command to spill over into Europe. One million men stood in the Near East; another million were concentrated in Sicily and North Africa; and approximately 2 1/2 million were ready for action in England.

But as they waited, Allied bombers poured their payloads on the Axis industrial centers. Assaults continued on the railroads over which the Axis could rush reinforcements to meet the Allied invasion. And airfields from which Axis planes could rise to challenge the Allies' air cover for the oncoming troops were ripped up.

HULER FIRST

Concentration on the defeat of Hitler, but consideration of means of speeding up the war in the Pacific, were the principal topics of the Quebec conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

In the political field, plans were laid to return friendly reconquered countries over to the provisional governments in exile. Enemy countries would remain subject to military government.

Declaring that unification was needed to co-ordinate the services of the combined Allied armies, navies and air forces, the conferees said that additional meetings would be necessary, and probably would be called at shorter intervals. A tripartite conference with Russia concerning the future disposition of Europe will be sought, it was stated.

PACIFIC:

At Japs' Back Door

While the little "sons of heaven" fell back before the advancing Allied armies in the Southwest Pacific, American forces under Vice-Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid stole through the misty, swirling Aleutian fog to retake Kiska Island and plant their battle standards within 600 miles of the Japanese empire.

On this northern point at Paramushiro stands the great military base guarding the back door to Tokyo. Already, American heavy bombers have made two raids on Paramushiro, but since the fog which shrouded the north Pacific assemble here and then move eastward toward the Aleutians, the Japs still possess an advantage in weather.

In the Southwest, Allied troops bore down on Salamaua, New Guinea, as the Japs fell back for a last stand before the town. In the central Solomons, the enemy were penned in their last holding on Kolombangara island.

Vice-Admiral Thomas Kinkaid

MANPOWER:

446,000 Dads to Go

To meet the armed services' call for 1,873,000 men during the last half of 1943, it will be necessary to induct about 446,000 fathers, Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey declared. Out of every 100 dads, 7 will be drafted, and perhaps 13 rejected.

According to Hershey, 703,000 of the 1,358,000 men of record July 1 will be called to the colors before the end of the year. Another 644,000 will be obtained from re-examination of the physically unfit in 4-F and those hitherto deferred because of essential occupation. Exhaustion of this pool will result in the induction of fathers to meet the armed services' goals.

Fathers employed in essential war work may obtain deferment, Hershey said, particularly if they are employed in areas with labor shortages. Of the 1,349,000 exempt because of agricultural activities, none are expected to be called, to prevent interference with food output.

Labor Draft?

Director Hershey's statement followed reports that the government was shaping a national labor draft to meet a need for 2,600,000 new workers for essential industry.

War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt declared that the WMC would continue to resort to voluntary efforts to obtain the necessary help. Recently, the WMC made essential occupation the sole basis for draft deferment, even for fathers after October 1.

With most of the 18-year-olds scheduled for the services; with many workers loath to switch to war work from non-essential occupations, and with the supply of working women about drained, attention was focused on a labor draft for solution of the manpower problem.

INCOME TAX:

Estimate Returns

Fifteen million taxpayers will be required to file estimates of their 1943 income taxes September 15, but the nation's farmers will have the choice of making their declarations on that date or December 15.

All married men with gross incomes of $2,500 or more, and single persons earning $2,700 or over, must file figures showing how much they owe the government in excess of the 20 per cent being deducted from the wages through the current withholding tax. At the same time, a 50 per cent payment of the estimated excess liability must be made.

If farmers file a return of their estimated tax September 15, they also must make a 50 per cent payment. If they choose to file December 15, they must make full payment.

In the case of the average taxpayer, he will be allowed a 20 per cent error in margin. Farmers are granted a 33 per cent margin. All taxpayers will have to file a final return on their tax liability next March 15, at which time any balances will be settled.

RUSSIA:

Seeks Iron

The coal and iron of the Donetz basin lay before the massed might of the Russian armies as they surged forward on the southern front. In one sector, where the Nazis claimed more than 150,000 Reds were concentrated, their lines were slowly pushed back under the heavy Russian artillery and tank fire, and rolling waves of infantry.

Farther to the north, the Reds pressed westward after retaking the blackened ruin of Kharkov, the great industrial city whose foundries and mills shaped the Donetz' iron into steel. Here, the Russians threw out a column that bore down on the big railroad line running into the far southeastern corner of the Donetz basin, where the Nazis were fighting the latest Red break.

As fighting mounted in the south, it was reported that a Finnish labor leader had met a British union representative in Sweden and given him proposals for settling the Russo-Finnish war. These called for respect for traditional Finnish territory and Allied economic assistance.

TIRES:

To Release 17,000,000

Seventeen million automobile tires will be released for essential civilian use in 1943, and plans are being made for the distribution of 30 million more next year, Rubber Director William Jeffers reported.

Distribution of 30 million tires next year, however, will depend upon the War Production board's approval of an expansion in the synthetic rubber manufacturing facilities. Since most of the tires would be synthetic and more time is required for their fabrication, additional equipment will be needed to meet the distribution goal.

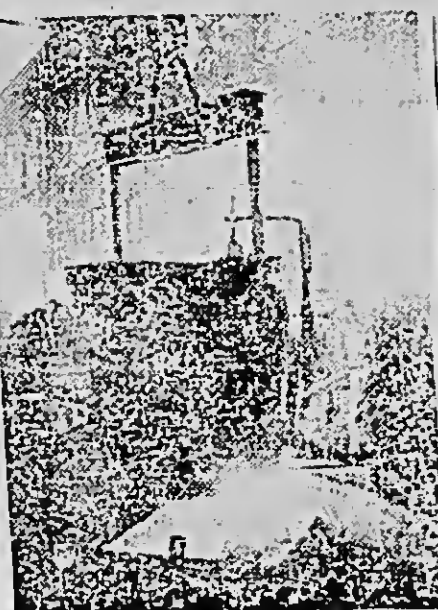

Declaring that only holders of "B" and "C" gas ration cards could be expected to obtain new tires, Jeffers said that the rubber on the wheels of America's automobiles remained the greatest assurance for future driving. Every effort should be made to retain these tires in use by repairing, Jeffers declared.

World's Steel Center

Two giant battleships and more than 1,000 four-motored bombers can be built every 21 hours with the daily output of the American steel mills.

Annual capacity of the industry now totals 90,891,029 tons, about 10,000,000 more tons than in 1931. By 1941, capacity is expected to reach 96,000,660 tons.

Record ore shipments and scrap supplies have enabled the mills to operate at close to 100 per cent of capacity. Blast furnaces which melt the ore into molten iron from which steel then is made, have been increased to handle 61,500,000 tons of raw material annually.

Because it has been previously refined, scrap can be mixed with the molten iron from the blast furnaces for production of steel, thus conserving the need for additional ore and speeding the manufacturing process.

FOOD PRICES

Blames Middlemen

Charging the existence of an ever-widening gap between prices received by farmers and those paid by consumers, Rep. Hampton P. Fulmer (S. C.) declared "money-mad middlemen making war profits up to 500 per cent" are responsible for shortages and price increases of foodstuffs. Fulmer is leader of the house's farm bloc.

Office of Price Administration figures show that a majority of large wholesalers made at least 100 per cent greater profits in 1942 than in 1939, Fulmer said, while one-fifth of all wholesalers received profits of 500 per cent.

To remedy the alleged profiteering, Fulmer said he would press for establishment of set prices for basic farm commodities, with percentage markups allowed for distributors and retailers.

PAY CHECKS

Longer hours, authorized wage increases, and "upgrading" of workers into higher-paid classifications, have combined to keep the pay checks of millions of urban workers climbing faster than living costs so far in 1943; these three factors are having a greater effect in raising the average wage level than most persons realize, and they operate without breaking existing wage-freeze regulations, according to the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. of Minneapolis.

ISRAEL CALLED TO BE A HOLY PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Leviticus 19:1-4, 11-16, 32-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye holy; for I am holy.—1 Peter 1:16.

Labor Day, 1943, with a war-torn world, finds us facing a social order deeply divided regarding the rights and wrongs of the relationship between man and man, especially capital and labor.

For these many years we have talked of a planned economy where kindness and justice shall control all dealings of man with his fellow man. But to accomplish such a result apart from the hand of God to guide and restrain, has proved to be impossible.

Selfishness and sin control too much of the thought and action of our world. We need to be reminded, as was Israel in our lesson, that God has called us to be a holy people. His holiness is not just something of which one sings in a hymn or talks in a sermon. It means among other things, real social justice.

God has always stood for social righteousness. The underlying moral law of the universe demands it, and the law of God as revealed to His people developed and implemented it for successful functioning, were we only wise enough to see and follow it.

It is time that all God's people emphasize God's moral principles in the life of society. Never forgetting that its first business is to preach the redeeming gospel of Christ, the church ought also to make its influence felt for social righteousness.

Our lesson speaks first of the foundational matter in all social justice, namely:

I. Holiness of Heart Before God (Lev. 19:1-4).

Because God is holy, His people were to be holy. It was not a matter of choice or impulse. They belonged to a holy God, they were to be a holy people.

There is an idea current in the church today which has scribed Satan well, namely, that holiness of life is something which is not required; that it is expected only of a few folk who are spiritually minded, and that the other professed followers of Christ may go on living a worldly, careless, powerless life. It is the devil's own lie. God expects every Christian to be holy.

Such rightness with God shows itself in a rightness with others, which we note as our second point:

II. Holiness of Life Before Men (Lev. 19:11-18, 32-34).

How intensely practical and workable in daily experience were the laws here given to Israel. They are just as apropos to our present day.

1. Honesty (vv. 11-13). No stealing, no perjury, no lying, no oppression, no withholding of wages, none of these could be tolerated, for they dishonored God's name. Think what the elimination of dishonesty in dealing between men would accomplish. Most of our social problems would be solved overnight. Merchants would do well to read verses 33 and 34 in this connection.

2. Kindness (v. 14). The deal cannot bear what we say about them, nor can the blind see what we do. But the eternal God hears and sees, and He expects us to be kind to them.

3. Fairness (vv. 15, 16). Some assume that a man must be rich because he is rich. Others are equally sure that the poor are always worthy of special consideration.

Note the condemnation of the tale-bearer. Every gossip who reads these words knows that God condemns that evil practice. Nor does He countenance indifference to the welfare of others. Their blood cries out to Him for deliverance (v. 16).

4. Love (vv. 17, 18). "Love thy neighbor as thyself." That is the standard. How much have we done to meet it?

A rebuke may be necessary, but love will not permit grudges, or the seeking of vengeance, even when we have been wronged.

5. Respect (vv. 3, 32). God's Word always stresses the need of a right attitude toward parents. Children need to learn anew the lesson of verse 3.

Then there are the aged (v. 32). Old age pensions doubtless have their place in our complex social order, but perhaps they would not be needed if men and women honored the hoary head and the face of an old man.

A pension does not take the place of honor and love for the aged, even though it may pay the bills. God has high standards.

6. Consideration (vv. 33, 34). The man who knows God will not be party to taking advantage of a stranger. He remembers that he too has been a stranger. To meet with loving kindness and tender care when one is in a strange place should inspire one to go and do likewise.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

PRIVATE DEBT: People owe much less than they did two years ago, according to a report by United Business Service. At the end of 1941 total consumer debt outstanding, mostly on installment sales, amounted to $9,800,000,000. Now it is about five billion dollars. Higher incomes and restricted opportunities to buy goods have acted to pare down the outstanding debt.

WAR FRAUDS: War frauds are much bigger than in 1917 and '18 in this much bigger war, U. S. Attorney General Francis Biddle commented, in announcing that 123 federal indictments have been obtained, and that 1,279 cases are being investigated. Seventy-one cases have been disposed of, and some kind of penalty has been levied in 90 per cent of these cases, he said.

Proclamation

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES

Proclamation

RECOGNIZING THE FACT that in carrying the war into enemy territory, we shall need greater amounts of money than any nation has ever asked from its citizens in all history, I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do officially proclaim that on Thursday, the ninth of September, 1943, the Third War Loan shall be launched.

As Commander-in-Chief, I hereby invoke every citizen to give all possible aid and support to this Third War Loan drive, not only so that our financial goal may be reached, but to encourage and inspire those of our husbands and fathers and sons who are under fire on a dozen fronts all over the world. It is my earnest hope that every American will realize that in buying War Bonds in this Third War Loan he has an opportunity to express voluntarily and under the guidance of his conscience, the extent to which he will "back the attack."

The American people supported well the first and second War Loan drives and in fact did even more than was asked of them. Our need for money now is greater than ever, and will continue to grow until the very day that Victory is won; so we must ask far more sacrifice, far more cooperation than ever before.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington, this twenty-sixth day of July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-eighth.
